Company Portrait: Hudson Spider

Hudson Spider, the innovative new LED lighting company from California debuted their initial prototype, the bicolor Redback, at IBC last year. The Redback hit the Market in December 2017 and the unique parabolic layout of LEDs is already making waves in both the photography and motion picture world in Europe and beyond. Unique to the Redback is their 180 degree Hard Teaser, that acts as an 'eyebrow' for the light, eliminating the need for additional C-stands, flags and cutter. Hudson Spider are expanding their portfolio with the new Mozzie, a smaller version of the Redback and the new Stealth, a 6' soft box adding another dimension to the Redback.
